

Gender and HIV/AIDS: ICTR (International Criminal Tribunal for Rwanda) challenges

Warning: DOMDocument::loadHTML(): Unexpected end tag : p in Entity, line: 3 in

Written by Editor

/home/gender/public_html/plugins/content/image/emogrifier.php on line 63

AUTHOR:

F. Ngendahayo with S. Moledina

DATE: 2000

PUBLISHER: UN Division for the Advancement of Women, WHO, and UNAIDS for Expert Group Meeting on "The HIV/AIDS Pandemic and its Gender Implications" 13-17 November 2000 Windhoek, Namibia

The 1994 Genocide in Rwanda resulted in a number of women contracting HIV/AIDS, which subsequently has serious implications on human security and on the International Criminal Tribunal for Rwanda (ICTR) justice process. This document traces the impact of ICTR on the lives of women who were victims of rape and violence, and highlights the definition of rape, defined for the first time in international law, as a component of genocide. The need to address gender violence and its impact on the spread of HIV/AIDS is critical.

Article can be accessed on-line here .