This bibliographic review on gender-based violence and HIV/AIDS is a companion document to a Literature Review under the same title. It includes an extensive electronic search of international and national electronic databases to identify relevant research published in journals and books, as well as 'grey' literature - much of which is not documented on the standard electronic search engines and published databases of HIV/AIDS literature. The bibliography is organized thematically and also includes some abstracts. The review is supplemented by the availability of this bibliography in a searchable database on the Cadre website at www.cadre.org.za.
