

In 2009, researchers completed a study that showed a microbicide gel could protect women from HIV infection. They said it showed that a microbicide could empower women to protect themselves from HIV/AIDS. Read full article here .