

AIDS assault on women converts minister to feminism

OTTAWA -- Aileen Carroll admits it is improbable. "Can you imagine, becoming a feminist at 60?" she asks, with a hearty laugh at her own expense. But Canada's Minister for International Co-operation finds herself newly radicalized these days, and it is what she calls the "female face of AIDS" that is responsible for the change. Read more...