

An Ounce of Prevention, Aimed at Women and Youth

---

The Venezuelan government has launched an AIDS prevention campaign that specifically targets women and youth, sectors in which the incidence of the disease is growing worldwide. The campaign is aimed especially at raising awareness among women, young adults and teenagers, using television and radio spots, newspaper ads, and billboards along the country's highways, to be placed between now and December, he added.

more...

Read