

Elderly women bear burden of AIDS

Elderly women usually have the luxury of time to relax and enjoy their golden years. But the HIV/AIDS epidemic has put a new burden on their frail shoulders. Many old women painfully witness their children and grandchildren suffering from HIV/AIDS. They spend most of their time as well as their energy caring for these victims, without any support or compensation.

Read more...