

Entitlement and responsibility: Gender inequality and HIV/AIDS

"I have always been concerned that in a lot of the discourse around infection within a marital relationship, there seems to be an inordinate amount of emphasis on people not seeking to blame their sexual partners, rather being exhorted to "just accept the result and move on". "

Read more...