

A global report on HIV prevalence states young women and adolescent girls face a “disproportionately high risk of infection due to biological vulnerability, social inequality and exclusion.” Read full article here.